So Mallorca is all about beach holidays? Well, that's certainly one option. But there's more – and this guide focuses on hiking and walking. Mallorca is a hiker's paradise, from the UNESCO-protected Serra de Tramuntana mountains to Llevant, with its rolling hills and wide beaches, or sections of the popular GR221 long-distance trail. As well as 40 varied hikes, the guide also contains tips for cultural sights, cafés with style, and beach life.

Wolfgang Heitzmann, born 1958, is a former tourism consultant and now works in publishing. In addition to writing for a range of media, he has written over 50 books, many about his second hiking home of Mallorca.

- 40 and over: varied tours and excursion tips for hikers
- With fold-out map giving a practical overview and GPS tracks to download
- Hikes for pleasure-seekers and adventurers between Palma and Porto Cristo
- Tips on cultural excursions, beaches and bays
- Plus: 2 exploration tours

Lost Places – decaying palazzi and theaters, abandoned factories, the ruins of a church, operating rooms that are now more a cabinet of horrors than places of healing. Sven Fennema travels through Europe in search of forgotten places and the curious parallel worlds in our midst. He photographs places apart from stress and noise; places that nature is reclaiming. A grimoire of photography, filled with mysterious places and captivatingly composed pictures.

Even in the Bronze Age, humans were crossing the Alps on tiny footpaths along the passes. For pilgrimage, military gain, or scenic car tours, humans have found ways to conquer this majestic landscape. In this volume of photography, Berthold Steinhilber tracks down the fascination of 77 – in some cases lesser-known – Alpine passes. In doing so, he has created images rich in detail, accompanied by interesting information on forgotten paths and the history of trans-Alpine travel.

Nepal – Eight

An Enlightened Path

Dieter Glogowski, Franz Binder

Nepal is a land of many faces: of breath-taking nature, of mountains that touch the sky, like Mount Everest, of Buddhist wisdom, of cultural and historical treasures, and a unique people. More than a guide to Nepal, this book tells the story of an adventure, a journey with eight unusual individuals to eight eight-thousanders; a journey towards peace and to one's inner self. A moving photography-volume and journal, complete with essays on the magic of the Himalayas.

- A moving, insightful journey to Nepal's eight eight-thousanders
- A story of friendship, courage, and self-knowledge
- Includes essays by Nepal expert Franz Binder on the myths, religion, and history of Nepal

At night in the mountains, man is but a small visitor, amidst old sombre stone giants casting their grand shadows. When the last lights flash over the summits, a solemn silence unfurls which quietens every noise. All impressions become more intense and every moment is long and magical. Bernd Ritschel captures these moments in his imposing mountain photography. An illustrated volume about dark mountains all around the world, eerily beautiful and inaccessible.

Bernd Ritschel, born in 1963, has been travelling countries and especially mountains all over the world. Over the years, the passionate extreme mountain climber has become an enthusiastic and successful professional photographer.

Tom Dauer, born in 1969, loves working in the mountains. He writes for the magazines Geo, Stern and Merian, amongst others, and has published several books on mountains, alpinism, and adventure.

The Last Nomads of Mongolia

Frank Riedinger

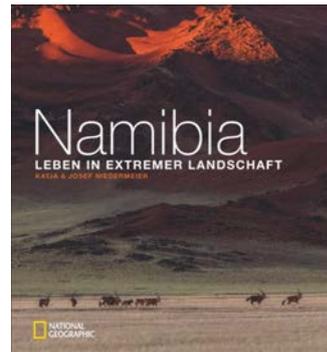

216 pages, 26.5 x 28.3 cm, ~180 images

Hardcover

Retail price: €50.00

Publication date: June 2017

Between Russia and China, there lies an incomparable steppeland. Frank Riedinger, award-winning author and photographer, has been travelling Mongolia for many years. In this illustrated volume, he immerses himself deeply in the culture of this land, describes encounters with friendly people, feasts, traditions and rituals. He visits shamans and eagle hunters and travels together with the nomads through uninhabited landscapes and marvelous nature.

Namibia

Josef Niedermeier, Katja Niedermeier

192 pages, 26.5 x 28.3 cm,

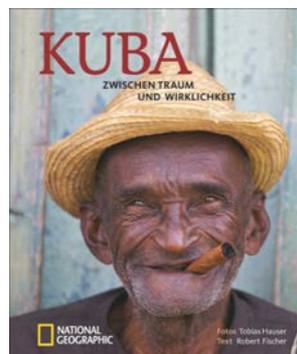

~ 200 images

Hardcover

Retail price: €40

Publication date: May 2017

Blazing heat, drought, sleet and dense fog. Namibia is unwelcoming, yet full of life. Katja and Joseph Niedermeier traveled this fascinating country and met with survivors, 1000-year-old plants in the Pre-Namib, chameleons and bugs in the deepest desert sands. They met farmers who wrest food from the earth, and peoples that were not only endangered by the drought. This volume about Namibia is a portrait of the changing face of Africa.

Two People, One Stove

The Ultimate Cookbook for Couples
 Annette Sandner, Michael Riedl

Many cooks spoil the broth? Not with this cookbook for couples! The book is actually two books in one, with specific roles assigned to each partner. Of course the recipe prep instructions are designed for kitchens equipped with only one stove, one oven, one food processor, and so on – but both partners have their own duties in the recipe they create together. From simple everyday dishes to culinary masterpieces for experienced cooks.

Annette Sandner grew up in a restaurant environment. Now a freelance consultant, recipe developer, copywriter, and photographer, she is based in Munich. Her blog “culinary pixel” (launched in 2012) has won multiple awards. Michael “Mikey” Riedl is a trained chef and head of the catering operation HillBilly Food Crew. PALEO is not a short term diet but the perfect diet for long-term health and fitness. PALEO (of Paleolithic), also referred to as the "Stone Age Diet," based on natural, high quality foods: fish, meat, eggs, vegetables, fruits and healthy fats. With this book you can simply step into the delicious PALEO food and feel much better after 30 days with it.

Nico loves cooking – particularly with unprocessed, natural foods. He enjoys it so much that he has turned his hobby into his career: his blog, www.paleo360.de, offers daily discussion of diet and health. A cookbook was the next logical step, since so many people want to eat healthily but don't know how to approach that change. By making himself the guinea pig, Nico discovered what so many after him have confirmed: Paleo is the right track for long-term health, improving blood work and athletic performance. Today, Nico spends up to three hours a day in the kitchen, looking for new ways to inspire his readers and to show that healthy eating can be delicious.

The word “whisky” means “water of life.” No wonder this iconic spirit is enjoying a growing market — but its popularity confronts novices with the problem of finding the right single malt for their taste. Should they go for a Scottish classic like Glenfiddich or an Irish newcomer like Teeling, or try an exotic exception like Amrut from India? Smoky or fruity, peaty or malty? The whisky guide by whisky aficionada Petra Milde has all the answers.

Natural Care for Mother and Child

Home-made lotions and creams – for pregnancy, after the birth and in baby’s first year

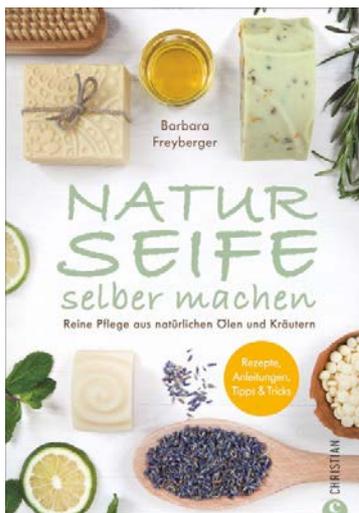

Natascha von Ganski

With lists of ingredients including allergens, petroleum, and microplastics, many industrially produced cosmetics sound like something to run a mile from, rather than be applied to the skin – especially by pregnant women or babies.

But by making cosmetics yourself using 100 per cent natural substances, you can simply eliminate ingredients of concern.

Herbalist Natascha von Ganski reveals easy ways to make natural cosmetics at home.

Natascha von Ganski has been an alternative practitioner since 1998, with her own practice, and lectures in conventional and herbal medicine. She has operated her own herbalism institute in Berlin since 2008, and has been a medical consultant for the development of naturopathic medical products since 2016. She lives with her husband and two children in Berlin.

The Rosetta Mission

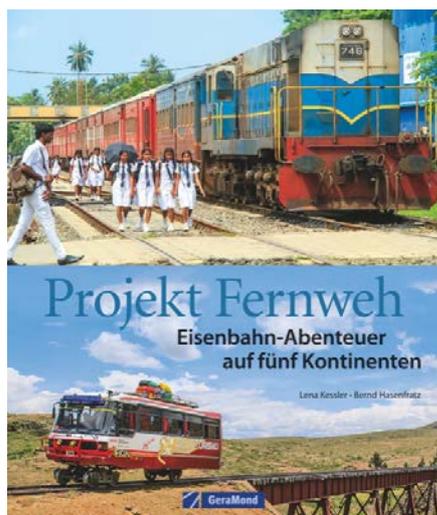

With Philae to Comet 67 P – A Spectacular Journey

Berndt Feuerbacher

The Philae lander module is the first such device ever to land on a comet – and made the Rosetta mission into a spectacular success for the ESA and DLR:

The Rosetta mission to the comet “Chury” is one of the most spectacular missions mounted by the European Space Agency (ESA) and the German Aerospace Center (DLR). After a ten-year journey through space, the Philae lander module of the space probe Rosetta – a device about the size of a domestic washing machine – landed on comet 67P and began to transmit information from this new world back to Planet Earth. This illustrated volume contains stunning images of the mission accompanied by informative and in-depth text by a space expert and insider to the mission.

- The most exciting mission ever undertaken in space – from planning through to the mission’s completion in September

The Motorbike

History – Technique – Design

Ulrich Hoffmann

The new generation of heavy motorbikes (for everyone, not racing models!) are producing 200 horsepower and more, whereas the first motorcycle produced in 1894 started with 3 horsepower. The development and new technologies within this 120 years is documented in this book, lavishly illustrated. 300 brilliant photographs illustrate the new standard work on the history of the motorcycle technology.

- All important trademarks, models and “cult machines”
- Technique and design from over 100 years

How to Motorbike to Perfection

Theory and Practice

Jürgen Mainx

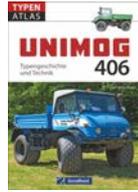

The art of motorbiking: this reference book by an expert teaches beginners and experienced riders the principles of perfect riding. Easy texts, descriptive series of images, and tested tips and tricks explain everything from correct posture to smooth curving and reactions in critical moments.

Compact Manual for Helicopter Pilots

Helicopter Flying Made Simple

Helmut Mauch

160 pages, 16.5 x 23.5 cm

~ 250 images

Softcover with flaps

Retail price: €24.99

Publication date: Fall 2016

New edition of a classic handbook for helicopter pilots!

A clear, simple explanation to flying a helicopter – and not a scientific formula in sight. Over 300 illustrations. At last, a new edition of this classic work.

Well-known author and flying instructor Helmut Mauch has developed a highly individual approach in his clear instructions for piloting a helicopter. With over 300 drawings and accompanying texts, the manual explains aerodynamic facts, the technical requirements for flying, and helicopter flying itself without the need for formulae. It really is flying made simple! At last, a new edition of the classic “Blue Bible”!

- Updated edition of the classic work
- Helicopter flying described in clear, simple explanations – no formulae involved
- Over 300 drawings presenting the principles of aerodynamics and handling a helicopter
- Ideal preparation for the PPL (H) license

Adventures in the Sky

160 pages, 16.5 x 23.5 cm
 ~ 40 images
 Hardcover
 Retail price: €24.99
 Publication date: Spring 2016
 Word count: approx. 97,000

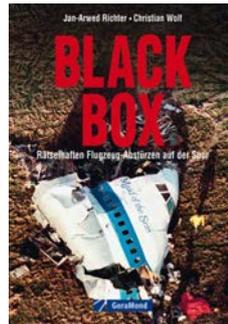

Fragile radial motors, powered by highly explosive fuel, a bare minimum of navigational equipment, flights through icy winds, storms, and tempestuous turbulence – those challenges required skilled, knowledgeable, and brave pilots able to make tough decisions in the fractions of a second.

Without a Trace

160 pages, 16.5 x 23.5 cm
 ~ 40 images
 Hardcover
 Retail price: €24.99
 Publication date: Spring 2016
 Word count: approx. 58,000

In his sixth book, Jochen W. Braun tells the story of disappeared flights. Whether they were found after decades or are still lost, these gripping accounts put the reader in the middle of the action. We feel for the people who were stranded for months, hoping to be saved.

Black Box

160 pages, 16.5 x 23.5 cm
 ~ 100 images
 Hardcover
 Retail price: €26.99
 Publication date: Fall 2013

Planes have been crashing for more than 100 years, still every crash is unique and shocking. Tragic accidents and their investigation changed aviation in the course of history, as this book shows. Minute analysis and detailed illustration give an insight.

SOS in the Clouds

192 pages, 16.5 x 23.5 cm
 ~ 80 images
 Hardcover
 Retail price: €26.99
 Publication date: Spring 2013

Crashes, nose dives, spectacular hijacks, this book gives an account of the black days in aviation history. Thrilling reports, accurate research and minute reconstruction of the course of the incidents involve the reader in the events.

Flight out of Control

160 pages, 16.5 x 23.5 cm
 ~ 80 images
 Hardcover
 Retail price: €12.99
 Publication date: Spring 2012

In 22 spectacular stories from the beginnings of aviation until the latest incidents, Jochen W. Braun accounts of crashes, nose dives, precarious touchdowns and dramatic rescues, which however involve surprisingly few victims.

Emergency Landing

160 pages, 16.5 x 23.5 cm
 ~ 100 images
 Hardcover
 Retail price: €14.99
 Publication date: Fall 2009

Spectacular flight catastrophies like the unresolved crash of an airbus on its way from Rio to Paris, or the ditch on the Hudson River in New York in 2009 draw the attention of the whole world.

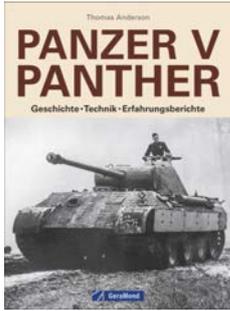

And Everybody Survived

160 pages, 16.5 x 23.5 cm
 ~ 120 images
 Hardcover
 Retail price: €24.95
 Publication date: Fall 2010

Fear of flying was the cause of author Jochen W. Braun's occupation with accidents in aviation. His mission was to find out if flying was really safer than driving. He analysed more than 48,000 incidents from crashes to hijacks: planes are the safest means of transportation.
